Looking at the News with Col. Hugh Clark

"WHO is behind this cult of nudism?" inquires an eager searcher after truth, and Mr. S. Holmes begins his investigation by the process of elimination, acquitting manufacturers of and dealers in clothing and boots and shoes from suspicion.

Aaron Sapiro, who is under indictment at Chicago with Al. Capone for operating a laundry racket, is a very clever lawyer and organizer. He will be remembered in the West for his work in organizing grain pools. Either as a party to an action, or as a witness, he came under examination or cross-examination by Isaac Pitblado, K.C. of Winnipeg. To impart to the jury that Sapiro is a Jew, Mr. Pitblado asked:

Your name, please?
And your first name is Aaron?
Sapiro,
Yes, Isaac.

It was he who sued Henry Ford for about a million dollars damages for alleged libel or slander of the Jews in a series of articles which appeared in the Dearborn Independent afterwards published in book form under the title "The International Jew." It never went to trial. Mr. Ford made an abject apology in which he paid profuse compliments to the offended race. Sapiro's action was settled out of court. Only a few know what price was paid and they won't tell, but you may be sure it was enough to put Sapiro beyond the reach of want, except that sort of want which cannot be satiated. At any rate there was no pressing necessity driving him into cahoots with Comrade Capone to apply the muscle to men engaged in the wholesale business of washing dirty linen.

The Amalgamated Civil Servants of Canada, at their biennial convention, rap patronage and you may bet that most of them know patronage when they see it through having used it when they got their appointments to the service.

A subscriber writes to a magazine complaining that he cannot without a lot of trouble find the index of contents and urging that it be placed in a more conspicuous position. The editor has not yet explained that the conspicuous positions are reserved for advertisers.

New York Irishmen who blamed England for interfering with Ireland will be wondering now, maybe, why they should interfere with Cuba. One should interfere as little as possible with another but nations as well as individuals sometimes find that their own peace, order and good government are menaced by turbulence and strife among neighbors. Then, too, a nation has the duty of protecting its own property there as well as its nationals, although these should be a minor consideration. If these nations want to live in another country they should be willing to take their chances.

Increased duties on cosmetics have increased the price but have apparently not decreased the consumption. Girls with perfect complexions still use them, not realizing that to gild refined gold, to paint the lily, to throw a perfume over the violet and so on, is wasteful and ridiculous excess besides being decidedly expensive. When beauty has faded or the Allred agreed to take over the training of the group and asked the co-operation of the boys. Officers were elected for the ensuing term. Council Accept Rink Agreement

Work on Arena Enlargement Commenced Today; Local Labor and Material Being Used

At the regular session of the Vulcan town council held on Monday evening the rental agreement between the town and the local Elks' lodge was read and accepted with a few minor changes as suggested by the different members of the council. Signatures were placed on the agreement Tuesday and the Elks started with the alterations today.

Local labor will be used in making the alterations and all material used in the construction will be purchased from local dealers. All citizens who are interested in the promotion of hockey and who are willing to assist with the enlargement of the arena please get in touch with the Elks committee at once. Services of this nature will be greatly appreciated.

The installation of a soft water cistern has been abandoned for this season, but all other proposed improvements will be included in the work now commenced. The ice sheet area will be enlarged to regulation size, and the building will be enlarged fifteen feet to the east and extra seating accommodation installed. The improvements are much needed and the fans will have every comfort for the season assured.

Giant potatoes, some weighing as much as 2½ lbs., were grown in the garden of C. H. Hoskyn in Vulcan. Samples of the vegetable have been on display at the store of F. L. Simington.

Excellent Growth Fruit

A window display of locally grown fruits attracted much attention at the McLaggan and Manson store last week. These fruits were grown on the farm of Mr. A. T. Martin a few miles south of town and the display included Hespil and Transcendent crabapples, two varieties of plums, Rocky Mountain and Compass cherries; apples and Black Cap raspberries. In a year lacking in moisture during the growing season, such as this one, it is remarkable to see fruit of these types maturing on the prairie. Anyone who visits the Martin farm during the summer is greeted with the sight of a wonderful growth of flowers, fruit and vegetables. Gooseberries, red and white currants, strawberries and all varieties of vegetables are grown and give large yields due to the protection afforded by a well planned windbreak. Citron this year on the farm measured well over one foot in diameter. Besides a winter's supply for family use, Mr. Martin markets crabapples and other varieties to local tradesmen.

C.W.L. BRIDGE PARTY

A very successful bridge party was held in the basement of St. Andrew's church last Friday evening, when some seventy-two guests gathered for the evening's entertainment. Two prizes were given, one for the highest score and one for the secret average score. They were won respectively by Mrs. (Dr.) Barker and Miss M. McLeod. During the lunch, after the bridge, a beautiful cushion donated by Rev. Fr. Cunningham, was drawn for by Mr. Crispo, district school inspector, who drew ticket No. 137, bearing the name of Violet Alberta Jones. The Vulcan C.W.L. take this opportunity of congratulating Miss Jones and thanking all those who made the party the great success it was, and in particular, Mrs. W. Brown who so kindly had the cushion on display in the window of her Ladies' Shoppe.

Reid Hill School Fair Real Success

Four Schools Compete for Prizes in Annual Event; Many Exhibits

Another successful school fair in the Reid Hill district has ended. The event was held on Friday, Sept. 29th in the community hall with four schools competing: Reid Hill, Yale, Harmony and Sunny Glen. A good attendance of pupils and parents enjoyed the array of the many and varied exhibits.

School work exhibits were of high standard and the sewing exhibits revealed some expert manipulators with the needle among the younger generation.

The grain and vegetable exhibits were fewer this year than last, but this was no doubt due to the unusual dry season. All, however, were of good quality and showed care in selection.

The event reflects great credit on all concerned in making it a success, the committee in charge deserving praise for their efforts. The association in turn desires to thank the judges and their assistants, who willingly aided in bringing the fair to a conclusion.

A complete prize list of winners is being prepared for the next issue.

The committee acknowledge the following donations: Campbell's Floral; Hon. O. L. McPherson, $5.00; T. Eaton, Winnipeg, $4.00 credit.

Eastway Social Club

At the Eastway Social Club meeting held at the home of Mrs. W. Marshall on Sept. 14th it was decided to postpone the building of a small addition to Union Jack school till more funds were on hand. The members agreed to make a hooked rug in aid of the club funds, the work entailed to be done at the meetings, members to donate the woollen materials needed. The roll call was answered by some very good tomato recipes being given. Miss Nina Hamilton assisted the hostess in serving lunch.

At the meeting of the club held at the home of Mrs. Amey, Mrs. Nevra gave a very interesting and instructive talk on her recent visit to Chicago Fair, and showing those present a varied collection of pictures and illustrated booklets of the fair. Everyone enjoyed Mrs. Nevra's talk and a hearty vote of thanks was accorded her. The next meeting of the club on Oct. 12th at the home of Mrs. J. Bell when plans for the winter's program will be discussed.

Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Rushfeldt and children accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Rushfeldt motored last week to Youngstown and St. Paul de Metis. At the latter point they visited with Ed. Rushfeldt.

NOTICE TO ALL FARMERS

Commencing Wednesday, November 1st, 1933, all Grain Elevators in the town of Vulcan will be closed on Wednesday afternoon at 12 o'clock, until August 1st, 1934.

By order of the Town Council.—Kindly bear this in mind.

NEW SCHOOL ROOM

The new school room in the system of the Vulcan schools, sanctioned by the school board, opened one day last week. The Pete Terry residence one block west of the school grounds was procured by the board and a complete renovation transformed it into a school room of ample proportions for the first primary grade. The school board was fortunate in renting a suitable building so near at hand to the regular grounds. The large fenced area surrounding the building affords the youngsters grounds for a playground. Grade nine has been moved from the high school building to the public school room vacated by the moving of the primary group and another teacher, Alex. Rankin, assigned to the position. Thus the overcrowded high school rooms are brought back to normal capacity, a convenience, both to the teachers and pupils.

Douglas League Meet Thursday

Further Discuss "Just Price" and Open Discussion on "National Dividend"

The usual fortnightly meeting of the Douglas Social Credit League was held on Thursday night, Sept. 28, when the subject for discussion was "National Dividend." Prior to this however, the president reviewed the "Just Price" proposed by Major Douglas and showed how this represented the true cost as opposed to financial cost. The speaker said that the "Just Price" theory had been admitted by many of the orthodox economists, and it was shown how, by scientific arrival at Just Price it could not be manipulated by financiers or politicians, but was based on the ratio of consumption to production. In this way, it was shown price was entirely in control of the community as a whole.

Then turning to the National Dividend the speaker claimed that every citizen was entitled to a dividend from the production of inventions. No one man or monopoly had a right to invention, it was the result of ideas and thought handed down from generation to generation, the speaker claimed.

The meetings are being better attended with the completion of harvest. The topic for Thursday, October 12th will be "The Gold Standard." You are invited to attend and take part in the discussion.

WEDDING BELLS

SANSOME — TINKESS

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Central United Church, Calgary on Wednesday afternoon, September 27, when Ethel Dorothy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Tinkess of Vulcan, was united in marriage to Mr. Reginald Sansome of Champion.

The bride was charming in a gown of white silk net over satin. She wore a bridal veil of net lace with sprays of orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of pink roses.

The bride was attended by Mr. Wesley Sinclair. Rev. J. E. Todd performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

CRABB—BOWIE

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Central United Church, Calgary, on Tuesday evening, Sept. 26th at 8 o'clock, when Eva Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bowie of Reid Hill, was united in marriage to Mr. David Crabb, son of Mr. David Crabb of Milo, Rev. J. E. Todd officiating.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. W. Mack, and Mr. Mack supported the groom. Only immediate relatives attended.

The bride was attired in a blue lace gown and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

The happy couple will reside on the groom's farm near Milo. In celebration of the occasion, Mr. and Mrs. Crabb are entertaining with a wedding dance at the community hall on Wednesday evening.

Harvesting Completed

Harvest has been completed in the Vulcan district for another year. A backward spring coupled with an unusual dry growing season and the grasshopper pest brought the yield down to the low average of ten bushels. Yields as high as 22 bushels on small areas were reported and yields as low as 4 bushels on stubbled-in fields. The first grain harvested and threshed graded No. 1 with good weight, but wet weather lowered the grade as the harvest advanced. Frost damage was reported south of town in early July and lowered yield and grade in that area. Hail damage was practically nil this season, and the only reports of damage by hail came from the Red Cross district. The first autumn snow fell on Sunday of last week and since that time there has been frost every night. Garden vegetables are being dug and stored for winter use at present. Yields of garden produce are light, the dry weather and grasshoppers taking toll. Many of the later varieties were revived by the late rains, especially the potato crop.

News Items Gleaned Around the Town

The Legionaires, Vulcan's dance band, will play for a dance at Milo on Friday, October 6th.

Allan Patterson, employed on the staff of the Vulcan Branch Canadian Bank of Commerce for the past several months, has resigned from that position and has accepted a position in a chartered accountant's office at Lethbridge. He left for the south city Saturday. J. Morran of Red Deer has filled the place thus vacated.

Large posters have been printed and an advertisement in this issue announces an auction sale at the premises on south-west quarter section 4, twp. 16, range 24, W.4, seven miles south of Vulcan. The sale list includes a large listing of horses, cattle, poultry, machinery, harness and household furniture, the property of E. H. "Dad" Dorch who is giving up farming in the district. C. C. Rebbe, auctioneer, will be in charge of the sale.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Andrew's R.C. church at 8 o'clock on Monday morning, Sept. 18 by Rev. Fr. Cunningham, when Alice Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomson of Vulcan, was united in marriage to Mr. Dominic Bonetti of Champion. After the marriage ceremony nuptial mass was celebrated during which the bride received the special blessing which the church receives for such occasions. The bride's attendant was Mrs. M. Popovitch while Mr. Charles Thomson Jr. waited upon the groom.

A bridal shower was given at the home of Mrs. W. Mack on Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. D. Crabb, nee Irene Bowie. Forty guests assembled to give their best wishes to the bride. Contest, games and fun were enjoyed and during the proceedings two young misses, Lorrain Mack niece of the bride, and Margaret McCullum, of Turner Valley, drew a decorated basket into the room filled with dozens of presents both beautiful and useful. At 5 o'clock buffet luncheon was served by the hostess, after which the party broke up. The occasion was a happy one.

The Vulcan Central Relief Board held their first meeting after the holiday season on Sunday. Eight representatives were present. Decision was made to call a special meeting of the board on Tuesday, October 17th. A request is being made to all lodges and societies to have their representative for the year present so that plans can be made for winter relief measures. Donations of clothing and foods will be greatly appreciated by the board. It was brought out at the meeting that clothing does not have to be dry cleaned before being donated for relief.

Watermelon grown in the district and of good proportions were on display at the store premises of W. D. Allan last week. Muskmelon, two varieties of squash and other garden produce were included in the display, grown at the farm of Dick Broderick in the Buffalo Hills area. All who sampled the watermelon were surprised at the flavor, although not of richness of the imported fruit, it tasted very good. All the plants grown on Mr. Broderick's farm were placed in the soil after the July frost and for the short season made wonderful development as the largeness of the different varieties of the display show.

On Monday evening Pete Bowie drove to town to attend a lodge meeting and on finding the car had a faulty battery he drove into Arney Motors to make repairs, leaving the car in the centre of the main part of the building. While he was in the repair shop advising mechanics on the repair to be made, the car through some cause unknown received motion to start backwards through the garage door. Gaining speed on the incline of the street, it travelled across and crashed into the east window of the F. L. Simington grocery store. The damage was considerable, the window being a large heavy plate-glass type. Impact of the vehicle against the building was terrific as the frame was shoved into the store some eighteen inches.

CHARLES CLARK, Proprietor

WHAT THIS COUNTRY NEEDS

British Columbia is an outstanding example of the political hodge podge that has all provinces to some degree, by the throat. Probably ninety per cent. of the B.C. people are clear as to what sort of administration they want. They want a business government, and are indifferent to the means by which it might come into being, or what party might be sufficiently awake to bring it about. But the landscape of our neighboring province is being cluttered with candidates, some pledged to party machines, some on their own, but in such numbers and with such conflicting ideas of what to do, that the average elector must be completely befuddled.

The young Liberals of B.C. are said to have evolved a scheme which, if they had the power, might bring some remedy. If they were elected, they would exercise the majority authority to send home a great proportion of the representatives and place the entire business of government in the hands of about ten men (choosing from outside ranks of elected men, if necessary). These men would be of proved business capability and nothing else would count. This ambition is typical of youth with contempt for precedent and courage to go forward. But will it be squelched under the weight of the old Liberal machine. It does not emphasize political advantage sufficiently. And that is the root of the difficulty in obtaining business government. Neither party believes in the good faith of the other, each is seeking his own advantage. It is a well established fact that the only excuse for party in provincial politics, is to mobilize forces for the Federal elections. It is time that the provinces freed themselves from the dominance of the destructive party forces of Federal politics, and looked after their own interest, which is to have a good business administration representative neither of one party nor class.

It has been said that the only way in which an independent government could be secured would be to shoot everybody over forty years old. This is drastic but it may have to be done. The older generation is so steeped in conscious and sub-conscious distrust that the spark of prejudice smoulders perpetually. Scrupulously honest in their personal lives, they see politics from an entirely different standard of ethics. What should be a clear-cut, direct business issue, becomes a crafty, intricate, dirt throw game.

It is this old hangover of political juggling and flapdoodle, that stands in the way of common sense administration, and the electors themselves are to blame in permitting themselves to be victimized. It is not beyond belief that in Alberta for example, seven or eight keen, capable men, obligated to no party machine, could conduct the whole business of Legislature quite as efficiently as the present army. Every M.L.A. is pressed and preyed upon by the little demands of the people in his constituency who want service from him. The indemnities of our representatives are the smallest part of the burden which is carried.

If the Alberta government were simplified to a small group of men, administering all departments, the petty demands would be smaller, the drain of provincial taxes would be lessened, there would be less supervision and more independence. A great share of the totally unnecessary machinery would be done away with.

Everything would depend on the type of men selected for office. Would the people have the commonsense to choose wisely, or would politics after all, be permitted to inject itself? It is all up to the elector.

VIM AND VIGOR REIGN

It is an invigorating experience to visit the Turner Valley oilfields. This is particularly true of the south area where all is activity and confidence. This little spot seems immunized against the existing doubts and depressions outside. Energy and belief in the future are paramount qualities. A tremendous sum is being invested in development, new workmen are being added to the payrolls, and there is everything to indicate that the confidence of investors and drillers is going to be justified.

It is impossible to escape the thought that High River is most fortunate in being next door to this thriving little community. There are not only commercial advantages but there is the added pleasure of getting acquainted. Those who drill for oil or explore the hidden wealth of the earth, are, as a rule, cosmopolitans. They have an outlook and experience, intensely interesting to those of us who live and die in more or less parochial surroundings. As townspeople, we could do much more than we have done or are in the habit of doing, to welcome our new neighbors and get to know them.

The commercial advantages of closer acquaintanceship have been impressed so often as to need no repetition. A headline in an issue of the Times of four years ago reads "Housing Capacity, High River's Great Problem." This recalls to mind, the numbers of families, whose heads were associated with the oilfields, that settled in High River in 1928 and '29, bringing business to the town and adding to our citizens.

The experience of four years ago could doubtless be repeated again, if citizens were awake to their opportunities. With the new oilfield much nearer than in 1929, all that separates us is a comparatively inexpensive piece of roadwork, and a real interest on the part of local citizens. What benefits one person in the town benefits all. What benefits the town as a whole, benefits every individual, not only in the town but in the country.

Out in the South Turner fields, workers are favorably disposed to High River. They would enjoy attending social functions here and doing their shopping. But naturally they travel the best road, which carries them entirely out of this district.

When the farmers at the Little Bow convention carried the resolution favoring an all-weather highway from High River to the oilfields, they not only expressed a need of their own, but they gave High River their backing and encouragement.

The promotion of a good road to South Turner can not be carried on by one man, or a small group. It must have solid and active support. When any opportunity comes to present the need before the proper authorities, there should be whole-hearted backing from all the citizens of the country and town alike.

ON THE ALERT

When the United Church in its Conferences (national and provincial) devotes time to a discussion of economics, and social legislation, a storm of criticism rises. The Church must not presume to consider worldly matters, say the critics. It must not concern itself with the conditions of life amongst its people, nor whether or not these conditions may be remedied.

The Conferences, however, see that the Church is a great national influence, and that its influence is in proportion to its realization of the times in which it lives. For the past three years religious leaders have seen the waste, suffering and frustration of their people. Naturally they have turned to an examination of the causes of the condition. This examination has led to certain conclusions, and a very specific stand has been taken during the past few months by Conferences in Ottawa, Montreal, the Maritimes, and all over Canada.

The development of social Christianity appears to be the ideal back of the resolutions emanating from these gatherings of the United Church. There have been committees appointed to study legislation, for the purpose of revealing faults which lie at the basis of social structure, and which may be remedied. Recent resolutions have called for legislative control to eliminate waste and to protect the primary producer and consumer of milk and bread, and demanding that the investigation into the coal combine of the east be made known to the Canadian people.

As only one instance of the data which brought forth these resolutions, the following gives light on the Combines Investigation as it affects bread prices in the East: "The spread between the wholesale cost of flour and retail price of bread was 2.3 cents in 1913; in 1930 it was 5.1 cents per pound." Between 1925 and 1930 when wheat and flour fluctuated freely, the high level of bread prices was generally unchanged. Investigation places emphasis on high distributing costs. One explanation of these costs lies in the use of high pressure sales methods by larger companies. They begin with a producing capacity far in excess of their market, and by all the arts of salesmanship, seek to increase volume. But this does not mean lower prices. The mill-controlled bakeries in 1929 did 93 1/2 per cent. of the entire business in the communities in which they operate, and the capacity of their plants is triple their output, or in excess of the total consumption of the Dominion. Until 1925 there were few chains of bakeries in Canada. Since then, there are at least 11 chains, nine being under the control of four milling companies, while two are operating 13 bakeries all in Ontario. It might be expected that chain bakeries would buy from the parent milling company, at much less cost than the small bakery, but this apparently is not the case. The Combines have not been followed by reduced selling costs.

The inquiry on milk report, points out that the price paid the producer of fluid milk is fixed and controlled by the distributor, the farmer receiving no equitable share of the money paid by the consumer. The overlapping of delivery and collecting routes is a serious factor. Although milk prices to the producer have been reduced to extremely low level, and industry generally has lapsed in recent years, salaries and returns to executive and operating officials and shareholders have been largely maintained. Overcapitalization exists (a) by purchasing or absorbing other companies at enhanced valuation; (b) by goodwill; (c) by splitting shares. Sale and distribution of whole milk products is getting into the hands of fewer and larger companies, with no evidence of benefit to producer or consumer.

When the Church begins to attack such homely problems as prices of bread and milk and coal and why these prices, it is coming very close to the real lives of the people whom it seeks to reach.

PLEASURES IN GARDENS

Each year when gardens reach their full productiveness there is a general regret expressed that this district has no horticultural exhibit, organized as an annual event. Many other towns, with no more to display, derive great pleasure and profit from an annual exhibit of the fruits, flowers and vegetables of the community.

This is the month when word comes in to the office of mammoth vegetables, of successful experiments in "banana belt" products, of fruit bearing trees and bushes. There are fruits being grown by individuals in the district which the majority of people know nothing about. There are plums, crab apples, ever-bearing strawberries, currants, ground cherries, garden huckleberries, and similar fruits. The successful growing of cantaloupe has been reported, and pumpkins, squash, tomatoes, cucumber, celery and so on, are brought to maturity by a growing number of good gardeners.

All these enterprising people, have valuable tips and information which they might give to other aspiring gardeners. The mere assembling and exhibiting of local garden produce and flowers would be an inspiration and a challenge to everyone. It would undoubtedly bring a new pride in the adaptability and fertility of this district.

In the growing of flowers, each year sees advance in variety and profusion. Gardens are being planned for an all season bloom, and beautiful perennials in shrubs and flowers are being added yearly.

It is many years since the town held a horticultural exhibit, and the simple displays of a few years ago, would be completely overshadowed by the much more pretentious and varied growth of the present. Everyone seems convinced that this district could now put on a wonderful Horticultural Show. It might require the combined efforts of several local organizations to handle such an exhibit efficiently, but the results would justify any expenditure of labor.

The early part of September would seem to be a good time for such a project, and it might be a good plan to carry it in mind for next year.

$56,700,000 was paid in taxes last year by the owners of automobiles in Canada, and this did not include the amount paid in fines. The provinces collected $21,126,271 for registration of vehicles and operations and another $27,083,316 in gasoline taxes.

Gasoline is one of the highest taxed commodities in America. Its tax ranges from 3.5 cents to 12.5 per gallon, which increases the retail price from 25 per cent. to more than 100 per cent. The tax revenue is more than the total profit made on its manufacture, distribution and sale. In Alberta the tax is 6 per cent. and in B.C. 7 per cent.

Have you ever observed in glancing casually at any picture in a magazine that your eye rests on the lower left hand corner of the page? Eye movements have been studied by means of motion pictures and as a result it is known we instinctively look at the lower left hand corner of a picture first and then at the upper right. This left to right habit asserts itself in many ways. The right hand rule of the road in Canada is based on it.

PREMIER BROWNLEE IN SERIOUS CHARGE

Premier Served With Writ While Serving on the Royal Banking Commission in Ottawa

A writ was issued in Edmonton on Sept. 27, through Supreme Court channels, charging Premier John Brownlee with seduction of Vivian MacMillan of Edson. The Premier is at present on the Royal Banking Commission and an order was made by Mr. Justice Boyle of Edmonton, permitting the plaintiffs to serve the statement of claim at Ottawa.

Mr. Brownlee's reply statement from Ottawa, was as follows: "I have received by long distance telephone the contents of the statement of claim. While one regrets to have to face a case of this kind, still it will enable me to come to grips with rumors that have been spread through the province for some weeks. "There is not a word of truth in the allegations against me and I will defend the action to the limit and hope to show before I am through the real cause of it."

Defence or demand of notice is to be filed within 25 days after service. This serious charge against the Premier of Alberta has shocked the people of the province, and there is a general disposition to at least withhold judgment till all evidence is in. Mr. Brownlee has been regarded with esteem, even by those who disagree with him politically, and the public will not readily relinquish the regard built up through the years. The executive of the U.F.A. in session when the writ was issued, immediately passed a resolution expressing complete confidence in their leader as a man of highest integrity and personal honor.

The Road to RECOVERY

A Statement by the Prime Minister of Canada

WITHIN a few days the Dominion of Canada will offer for public subscription the 1933 Refunding Loan, the purposes and terms of which will be announced in detail by the Minister of Finance on Tuesday, October 10. In this national undertaking an opportunity will be afforded both for sound investment and for public service, and I have no doubts as to the readiness with which Canadian investors will respond.

I feel, however, that the 1933 Loan marks a point in Canadian affairs to which it is only proper that public attention should be drawn as a means of extending justifiable encouragement to many thousands of men and women who have endured adversity with such admirable fortitude.

With due precaution against unwarranted optimism I think I may say that in Canada we are now on the road to recovery. The road may be long and progress may be slow, but the events of the past six months appear to demonstrate with increasing clarity that the downward trend has come to a definite stop and that an upward trend is now in progress.

The evidence of improvement is written in the statistical facts of our industry and trade. These records show that our general economic condition reached its lowest point during the month of February last and that today we are definitely above that level following a recovery which has been gradual but persistent and unmistakable.

The most significant of these figures are probably those dealing with the physical volume of business, wholesale prices and employment, and I give here briefly the record of recovery in each case as shown by the reports of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The index of our physical volume of business, which represents virtually the economic pulse of the nation, stood last February at 67.1. For August, the most recent month for which the index is available, the figure was 89.9, an improvement of approximately 34%.

Wholesale prices, in which even minor changes are highly significant, have risen over 9%, or from an index of 63.6 last February to one of 69.4 in August.

Employment, although still at a regrettably low level, has, nevertheless, been gaining steadily for the past five months. On the basis of partial reports from industrial employers some 116,000 persons have been added to pay-rolls since last April. An estimate by the Bureau on a more comprehensive basis places the total increase in employment at 246,000 during the same period.

Our external trade figures are equally encouraging. Both exports and imports have risen, with the former showing the more rapid increase. As a result, Canada had a favourable trade balance of over $114,000,000 in the twelve months ended August 31st this year. For the corresponding period last year the favourable balance was only $38,000,000, and in the two previous twelve months' periods instead of favourable figures we had unfavourable balances of $45,000,000 and of $103,000,000 respectively.

All these facts and figures I think we may quite safely take as sign-posts on the road to recovery. In our further progress, no single factor will have more significance than the success of our national loan operations. The recent 4% loan in London was a notable tribute to Canada's credit standing. It was immediately oversubscribed many times and now commands a substantial premium. I feel satisfied that our own people will be quick to perceive that the 1933 Refunding Loan in Canada is at once a challenge and an opportunity—a challenge to aid in the restoration of business recovery and an opportunity to serve thereby their own and their country's best interests.

VulcanExit the Cougar;
An ObituaryThe Bow Valley Resource in an item published last week telling of the capture of the cougar that for some time has roamed throughout the district clears up fearful subject of some week's discussion. We let the "Resource" tell the story in their own words:"We have heard the story of a cougar committing sundry depredations in this community and now comes a farmer with a snapshot showing himself with a strangle hold on the big cat's throat and informs us that the cat is dead and will no more tear and rend warm meat. The picture seems genuine and the identity of the cougar and man is unmistakable but we would like to see the body of the cougar or at least a green hide. However we have it on good authority that a certain man named Sampson killed a lion in a personal combat and a boy named David accomplished the same feat, perhaps, the help of a sling—but for one of our contemporaries to strangle a 150 pound cat while some one uses a camera instead of a shotgun—well, it just doesn't seem real.
However the main point is that the cougar is dead and school children can now go safely on their way and housewives need not shiver when Towser barks at the moon and we can all be glad for so happy an ending."Speaking from a medical standpoint, Sir George Newman, chief medical officer of England, warns against the overdoing of the vitamin craze.
"If a halt is not called in this indiscriminate dosing of foods with vitamins there is a possibility of disturbance in the balance of nutrition which may have far-reaching effects and which it is not unreasonable to contemplate with some uneasiness."Berrywater U.F.W.A.
Aug.-Sept. MeetingsMrs. D. B. Sims was hostess for the August meeting of the local U.F.
W.A., there being a fair attendance of members, Mrs. Clifford Love presiding. After a short business session
Mrs. Sinclair read an interesting paper on Health, stressing the care needed in the diet of young children and Mrs. F. Noble gave some helpful items regarding school lunches, both subjects being freely discussed by those present. At the close of the meeting the hostess served lunch assisted by Mrs. Mills.On Sept. 27th the U.F.W.A. met at the home of Mrs. W. Oldfield, with 18 ladies present, members and visitors.
Mrs. C. Love presided and the meeting opened with the singing of "Let the rest of the world go by." The business routine included the acceptance of an invitation to visit the Milo
U.F.W.A. on October 18th, and a general discussion regarding the local's annual November event at the Berry-water school and it was decided to have a fowl supper and dance on November 3rd particulars of which to be advertised later, the usual variety entertainment to be put on at some future date. The prizewinners of an interesting contest were Mrs. Schenck and Mrs. E. Love who tied for first honors. A mystery game in which all took part, with Mrs. Barker at the piano, resulted in the presentation of a collection of preserves and pickles,
to a recent bride and former teacher of Berrywater school, Mrs. C. Lynn Oldfield, Mrs. F. Mensinger Jr., reading a splendid composition of her own as an address of welcome and reminiscences of happy days at Berrywater, and other incidents in Mrs. C. L.
Oldfield's (nee Miss W. Gilhooly) career. The happy recipient charmingly thanked all those present for their acceptable gifts and welcome. The roll call was answered by bridal experiences, and proved quite an interesting item of the afternoon's program. The next meeting to be at Mrs. Sinclair's on Oct. 11, when the nomination of a delegate for the Stavelly Conference will take place, and discussion of any resolutions listed for presentation at

DISAPPOINTINGHigh Price Levels Had No Justification in Export Trade"July, the closing month of the crop year 1932-1933, proved most disappointing from the standpoint of the international grain market and the disposition of the Canadian wheat surplus," said the Board of Grain Commissioners, in its July report on movement of western grain crops."Prices of all grain soared to levels substantially higher than appeared justified by conditions, only to fall back by several cents per bushel so rapidly that it became apparent some remedy was necessary to bring about stability."The world movement of wheat and flour during the past season totalled slightly less than 615,000,000 bushels or more than 15,000,000 below the lowest published estimate. Two hundred and ninety millions were shipped from North-America, 126 1-4 from Argentina, 154 1-4 from Australia, 17.4 from Russia and 25 millions from other countries."Crop prospects in Europe indicate an even smaller total of world import requirements during the season just opened. On the other hand, heat, drought and grasshoppers have materially reduced crop prospects in North America, so that smaller crops are expected to far more than compensate for larger carryovers in Canada and the United States."NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND
